Tin Can Fun

This award is not in the South Pacific Manual but is on the North American Division web site.

WARNING - this means that if you order badges from your local Conference it could take a while, but most Adventist Book Centres are now willing to order these for you.

Margaret Tay of the North New Zealand Conference prepared a work book with each requirement listed followed by a space for the Adventurer to make notes. Rather than repeat this I am just listing the illustrations she used, so that your children can use them in their own work books for this award.

There are nine graphics. Two drawings of tin can telephones, two other tin can pictures, and then five photographs featuring New Zealand produced tinned foods.
